Record Number Visit Fish Hatchery

The Grayling Fish Hatchery broke all previous attendance records last Memorial Day weekend when 2,813 persons visited the park. The attendance record beaten was 2,590, set on Memorial Day weekend, 1987.

Howard Hatfield, Grayling Fish Hatchery manager, said 1,229 persons visited the hatchery on Sunday, May 27. He said this season's attendance is running a little more than 400 people ahead of last year, which may indicate that Crawford County will have a better than usual summer tourist season.

The Grayling Fish Hatchery's season began on Saturday, May 19, and is open seven days a week from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Its season will end the weekend following Labor Day.

Voters Say No To New School

Voters in the Crawford-AuSable School District said no to the construction of a second elementary school at Monday's school election, when both the one mill bond issue, which would have paid for the $5.5 million construction project, and the 1.75 mill proposal for operation were soundly rejected.

The final tally for the one mill bond issue was 992 no to 695 yes. The 1.75 mill proposal was defeated, 983 no to 688 yes. The following is the bond and operational issue results by precinct.

One mill bond issue: Precinct 1 (city of Grayling and Grayling Township): 748 no and 622 yes; precinct 2 (Frederic Township, Maple Forest Township and a portion of Otsego Lake Township): 147 no and 45 yes; and precinct 3 (Lovells Township): 97 no and 28 yes.

Operational 1.75 mill proposal: Precinct 1: 741 no and 617 yes; precinct 2: 145 no and 45 yes; precinct 3: 97 no and 26 yes.

Superintendent Kent Reynolds said he was very disappointed in the results of Monday's election.

"The needs are not going to go away and the kids are going to continue to line up at the door," he stated. "The result will be continued overcrowding and busing."

Reynolds said he was encouraged to see that the totals of both issues were so close.

"It means we got the message to the voters that both issues were tied together," he said. "That was a major concern for us."

He said during the next two months the Board of Education would be evaluating election results and talking to the community before making its decision whether to bring the issue before the voters again. Reynolds said he expects the board to make a final decision at the August meeting.

Unless the board substantially changes its proposals, it cannot place the issue of a new school before voters again for six months. That would be sometime in December.

"I did not hear a single person argue that we did not need the new school," said Reynolds. "The defeat was an economic issue. People are frustrated with Lansing," he said. "Lansing has not provided property tax relief. They have failed to provide school equity."

Reynolds said many residents of Crawford County have experienced property tax increases this year.

"They are being forced to make difficult decisions," he said.

Recycling Taking Hold in County

By Irene Pettyjohn

The idea of recycling has been tossed around and around by Crawford County's residents and government agencies for several years. Recent action taken by the county's largest commercial refuse hauler, Milltown Refuse Service, and Grayling Township moved recycling closer to becoming an everyday reality for area residents.

Milltown Refuse Service announced last week that it would begin picking up recyclable trash for its non-commercial customers on the last pick-up day of each month. At the same time, Grayling Township completed negotiations with the Crawford/Otsego Landfill to place four containers at the North Down River Road transfer station where recyclable trash can be deposited.

In the past, the only way households could recycle was to take their recyclables to the landfill in northern Crawford County — an eighteen-mile round trip for Grayling residents and even further for residents of Grayling, South Branch and Beaver Creek townships. This trip is too far for some busy families and too costly for some residents on fixed incomes.

Now tin and aluminum cans, plastic bottles and containers, scrap metal, newspaper and computer paper, and cardboard can all be recycled, with no added expense to the consumer.

Milltown Refuse Service is asking their customers to place recyclable items in separate containers and to place these containers apart from their regular trash. Containers can be either trash cans or plastic bags. Milltown owner Bob McLachlan said gallon milk containers can be tied together at the handles with string or twine.

"We don't care how it is packaged," said McLachlan, "as long as it can be recognized as recyclables and can be handled with ease."

He said a second truck will travel each route on the last pick-up day of the month and collect the recyclable trash.

Newspapers should be bundled with twine or stacked inside a cardboard box or paper bag for easy handling and to keep them from being scattered by the wind. At this time, the landfill is not accepting any glossy paper, the type found in many magazines.

Grayling Township clerk Monica Ashton said plastic containers and tin and aluminum cans should be rinsed out and the paper labels on cans should be removed. If possible, cans should be flattened.

"The easiest way to flatten cans is to remove the top and bottom and then step on them," she said.

In addition to the items already mentioned, Ashton said Grayling Township is hopeful that it will be able to provide a place for leaves and grass by this fall.

McLachlan said his company took 90 compacted yards of leaves last fall and this spring (180 yards total) to area farms where they were plowed into the soil.

Milltown Refuse will be expanding its recycling services to include commercial recycling of cardboard and paper, possibly by fall.

"As the market opens to recycling we will continue to expand into those areas," stated McLachlan.

"We are running out of landfill space," he said, "and sooner or later our natural resources, trees, minerals, gas and oil, are going to become scarce. It's about time we began thinking about the next generation."

The Crawford/Otsego Landfill has been collecting computer paper and cardboard from area businesses for several years.

John Miller, director of the Crawford/Otsego Landfill, said the county recycling center has not started recycling glass at this time.

Ashton said anyone can use the recycling containers at the North Down River Road transfer station free of charge, but the fee for all trash going into the large compactor is still 75 cents per bag, or a Grayling Township sticker which costs $15.00 annually.

"Recycling is the right thing to do," said Ashton. "I know it's a lot of work, but we can't keep burying everything."

Ashton said she was at the township transfer station shortly after the recycling containers were placed there and she said nearly every car that came had something to recycle.

"Recycling may be a new concept to the so called 'younger generation,'" she said. "But it is nothing new to our parents who have been saving and reusing for years."

Ultra-Light Aircraft Sinks At Margrethe

A Grayling resident nearly drowned in Lake Margrethe on Friday, June 1, when his ultra-light aircraft sank and he had problems releasing his safety belt.

Norm Bancroft was taxiing his new Weedhopper Ultra-light airplane on the lake at about 4:30 p.m., when the wake of a nearby boat lifted one of the plane's pontoons, causing the left wing to raise and the right wing to slide into the water. The propeller exploded when it hit the water and the main fuselage tube broke upon impact.

"After that the plane sank fast," he said.

Bancroft said he was hanging upside-down under water and, at first, could not find the safety belt buckle. When he finally found it, it was turned around, and he had difficulty finding the release button.

The accident was captured on film by Ed Papendick, who taped the accident from his boat.

"On film it didn't seem to take that long for me to surface," said Norm Bancroft, "but I swore it took 10 minutes!"

Bancroft said he did not intend to fly the plane off the lake because the wind was very strong. He was having difficulty trying to maneuver the plane back to shore when the accident occurred.

Ed Papendick, Bob Annis, Larry Tobias and Artie Annis were in the first boat to arrive at the crash scene. Other boats arrived and helped Bancroft retrieve what was left of his airplane.

"The water was cold and the wind was worse," said Bancroft. "Everyone was glad to get to shore."

The airplane, which Bancroft had purchased for $2,400 two days before the accident, was totally destroyed. He said it was not insured.

Undaunted by the whole affair, Bancroft, who has been flying on and off since 1968, said he was going to build another ultra-light using parts from the crashed plane and parts from aviation companies. Ultra-lights are constructed of aluminum tubing and fabric wings.

Besides flying, Bancroft has been skydiving since 1970.

Recycling is catching on in Crawford County. Most City of Grayling residents and Grayling Township residents now have easy drop-off places. Any Milltown Refuse customers can place items for recycling out on the last pick-up day of the month and Milltown Refuse will haul the items to the recycling center. Grayling Township residents may drop off their items at the transfer station during its normal operating hours.

Now that drop-off places are established, the hard part is getting Crawford County people to sort their trash. In my opinion, the generation who went through the depression or World War II are putting more effort into recycling in this area than the younger generation who is supposedly more concerned about the environment. The 20 to 45 year olds seem to be "too busy" to do their share. Thank goodness many of them are being taught the importance of recycling by their young children.

If any of these bright children are reading this, why don't you try to teach your wasteful parents the three "R's" — Reduce, Reuse, and Recycle. As important as recycling is, it's the third option in cutting our trash and use of natural resources.

On a different note, there are seats still available on a bus of Little League players and parents heading to Tiger Stadium this Saturday to watch the Detroit Tigers, led by home run hitter Cecil Fielder, play the California Angels. Interested parents should call Bruce Patrick or me before Saturday.

Reader Questions Shooting Of Dog in Sherwood Forest

The subdivision of Sherwood Forest has many dogs. The dogs are sort of like the neighborhood kids in the sense that they visit each other on occasion and "hang out" with one another. They seem to get along well and I have never seen any of them digging up gardens, ripping up trash or being mean in any way. As I write this, the neighbors' dog is in my yard laying by one of mine and they playfully paw and bite at one another.

A lot of people let their dogs out first thing in the morning so they can run around their yard or the wooded areas that are close to all home here, and do their business. They just seem to do it better when they are off a chain. As long as the dog comes right back home, I see no harm, but occasionally dogs do get loose. When they do, they have a tendency to chase cars, or people on bikes, or anything else that moves. I realize a dog running out suddenly can scare someone or cause an accident. My dogs are guilty of it as are others. We just have to keep a close eye on them to make sure they stay tied or penned. Young children in the home like to cut the family pet loose because they feel sorry for it. Sometimes a dog digs out or breaks a chain. Whatever the reason, I feel that the majority of the time it is not intentional.

I don't see any major catastrophe resulting from a dog wandering into someone's yard, but then I also think it depends on just how much you like animals. I have been accused of encouraging dogs into my yard because I will give them treats and even let them come into the kitchen while I'm cooking. Of course this is done only when my husband is not around because he is one who is not real crazy about animals. He is not even fond of the second dog we have.

It is hard to listen to a dog yap and bark when tied. Mine will tolerate the chain for just so long, then they need a short walk to stretch their legs or to come in for a visit. It takes some extra time but not that much.

But suddenly in this subdivision there has been some problems. People have taken dogs, kept them hid in their house after removing collar and tags, and they have made no attempt to contact the owner even though they knew where the dog belonged. What the plans for the dog were, I do not know. It just seems that if someone wants a dog bad enough they should go the shelter. This particular incident happened to me not long ago. I was a wild woman when I finally found my dog and the collar and tags were never returned.

The animal control officers have received calls from neighbors turning in neighbors over wandering dogs. A few of the calls lately have had no truth to them whatsoever. Maybe as neighbors we need to communicate more if there is a problem and not bother the officers so much.

Now comes the main purpose of this article. The worst incident occurred last week. My boys came running home from a nearby house where they were playing basketball. They told me to call the police because a dog had been shot and was laying in the center of the road. I made the call and started walking down the road to where this had happened. Others were out too, quite shocked at what they saw. The dog was not dead. It was trying to get up, trying to drag itself, trying as hard as it could to move but couldn't because it was crippled in the back part of its body. With all the twisting and turning it did for that half hour or longer it laid there, must have resulted in a lot more damage. The police were there almost immediately but they have regulations so of course no one was to get too close to it. I had grabbed old sheets from the garage thinking that if the dog could be wrapped in some way and kept calm, the blood loss wouldn't have been so great. But there was nothing anyone could do. The owner was trying to be located and the vet was on his way.

I remembered seeing this dog in our yard a few times. I didn't know who it belonged to but I knew it was gentle. All of us wanted to do something to help it. It was heart-breaking to stand there and listen to it whine, and watch it struggle and bleed. The agony it was going through made me wish someone would just put it out of its misery. Dr. Mesack arrived and took the dog away to see what could be done for it. It survived through the night, then died the next morning.

The trail of blood pointed toward a house where the shots seemed to be fired from. This was the same house in which the people inside never once came out like the rest of us. They were there, because an officer had questioned them about the shooting. It seems that this house also has a dog who is in season. As of this writing it still may be in season so I guess owners of male dogs in Sherwood Forest should keep a close eye on them. But when your dog is in season, you don't stake it out in your yard. That is advertising to the male dogs and will bring them from all directions. It's only natural. Persons are also prohibited from shooting a firearm in a neighborhood, so you — the person responsible — have a bit of trouble for yourself. I hope you are reading this because I would like to remind you of something: your dog has run all over this neighborhood. No one knew at first who it belonged to. How would you have felt if someone had done that to your dog? Suppose you are on your way home and just before you get there you see your dog slowly dying in the middle of the road. Would that bother you? Or are you so cold that you would drive around it and act like nothing ever happened? If you could do that to an animal, what would you do to a child that ticked you off? I hope after reading this you feel smaller than the size print used in this article.

Do as I say, not as I do

THAT VETERAN POLLSTER, Dr. George Gallup, Jr., has come up with another one.

Associated Press reported that Gallup pollsters, after "years of research... have found gaps between what Americans say they believe and how they live."

Dr. Gallup reported on the findings at a recent meeting of the Evangelical Press Association.

Apparently Americans believe in religion but aren't religious.

AP reported that Gallup said "most Americans say they believe in God and Jesus and trust the Bible, but ... are ignorant of the doctrines and history of their chosen faiths."

Said Dr. Gallup: "We want the fruits of religion but not the obligations."

Is there a difference between what church-goers say they believe and how they act?

It shouldn't take a high-priced pollster like George Gallup and years of research to ascertain that.

Just ask any minister or priest as he/she counts the weekly collection...

Or better yet, simply take a look at the parking lot driving patterns of church goers as they leave the weekend service.

It's all too often a case of "do as I say, not as I do."

POLITICAL POLLS — Then there are the political polls, which are rife this election year. In the political area, you usually can find a poll to suit any purpose.

For example...

In the 10th Congressional district of Michigan, where a whole galaxy of political hopefuls is fighting it out to succeed Rep. Bill Schuette, who is vacating the seat for the Senate, a couple of polls were released recently.

State Rep. David Camp of Midland, who is Mr. Schuette's personal favorite, released a poll showing he is the front-runner for the Republican nomination. Mr. Camp's poll claims he had 26 percent support, followed by former U.S. Rep. James Dunn at 23 percent, former State Sen. Alan Cropsey at 10 percent, and former State Sen. Dick Allen at 9 percent.

But Mr. Dunn — who once served in Congress from the East Lansing district, and has been trying to win another elective job ever since he lost that one — had his own poll. Surprise: The Dunn poll showed Mr. Dunn ahead.

The Dunn poll had Mr. Dunn at 29 percent, Mr. Camp at 19 percent; Mr. Allen at 13 percent, and Mr. Cropsey at 7 percent.

No recent word on the Cropsey and Allen polls.

Political polls usually are released by those who are ahead in that particular poll, while those who trail almost universally respond: "The only poll that counts is on election day." That's true... especially when the vote is fractionalized as much as it appears to be in the Michigan 10th district.

INCIDENTALLY, even a casual observer will note how many of the candidates in this open congressional race carry the title of "former" office holder of one kind or another. Once holding an elective office gets into the bloodstream, it's almost impossible to flush away.

Makes you wonder about the frequent complaints that members of congress and the state legislature are grossly underpaid. Taxpayers hear that line every time there's a drive for a pay increase, which seems to be every year or so.

If the pay is so lousy, how come everybody wants to get back into office?

Hmmm. Makes you wonder, doesn't it?

REMEMBERED QUOTE — Gannett News Service Columnist Corky Simpson recently wrote about Jim Valvano, the loquacious former college basketball coach who is taking a new television commentary job.

"No one would doubt his gift of gab," Mr. Simpson wrote about Mr. Valvano. "He could get in the last word on an echo."

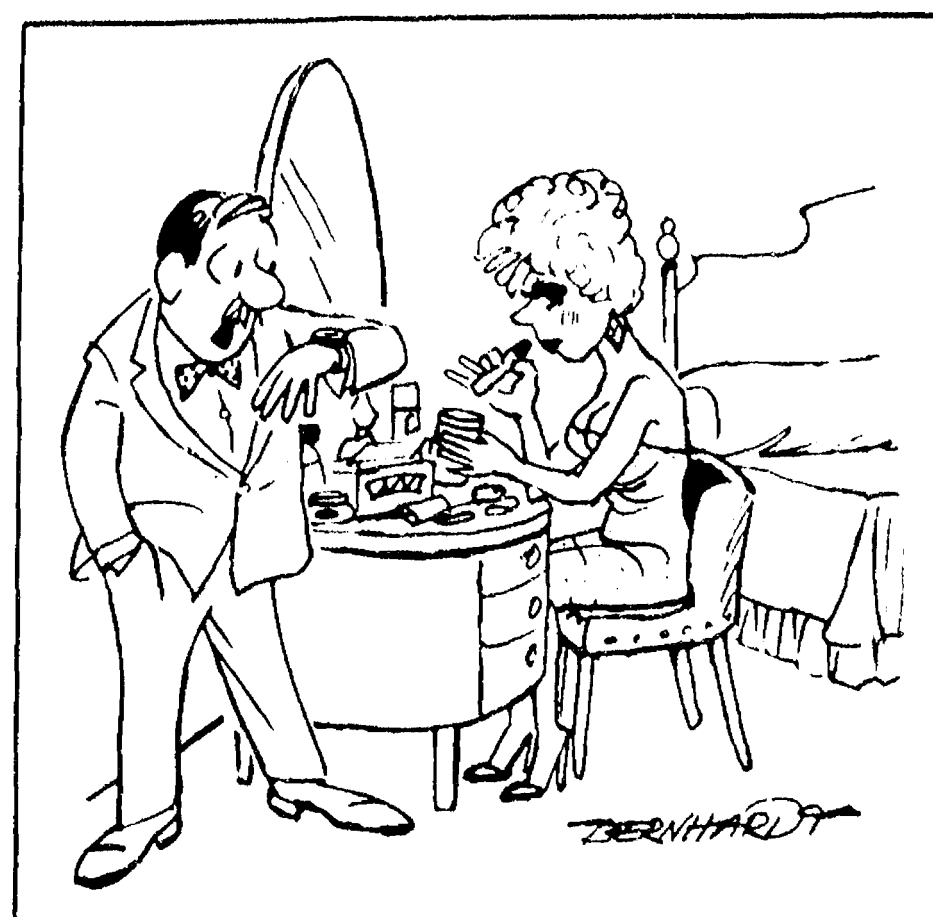

NUTS AND JOLTS — A couple of column closers from Hod Shewell:

—Lobbyists see to it that some lawmakers are the best that money can buy.

—It sure costs plenty to dress today's teenagers in ragged clothes.

—A real old-timer is a watch with a fob on it.

—These days there's too much consent when kids reach the age of consent.

"We're running late. How's the disguise coming?"

Everyone's Help Was Heartening

We would like to take this opportunity to express our "Thanks" to all those who gave so selflessly of themselves to help victims during and after the May 8th fire.

To the firefighters, law enforcement and E.M.S. crews, the D.N.R. and National Guard, the Red Cross, Salvation Army, the volunteers at the K. of C., Rev. Gordon, Fr. Mike, Sr. Marita, and all the volunteers at both St. John's and St. Mary's churches, the people at K-Mart who stayed late for us, and Glen's Market, we say Thank you.

Special thanks to Mr. Richard Albee, Mr. Steve Anhalt, Mr. Joe Townsend, and our fellow employees at both Grayling State Bank and Georgia-Pacific Distribution Center. Your help and support have meant more than we can ever express.

County Residents Make Cancer Society Campaign A Success

There were so many residents of Crawford County that made the American Cancer Society's door to door campaign a huge success that I wanted to bring it to everyone's attention. The volunteers who knocked on doors, and those who gave contributions. Our goal was to share our educational message about nutrition and cancer prevention with all of the residents of Crawford County. I apologize to anyone we may have missed, but the majority of Crawford County was covered.

Those people who gave their time to be American Cancer Society volunteers are very special people. They are especially important to those people whose cancer may have been prevented or detected early because of information shared with them by their ACS volunteer.

I want all of you to know how very grateful we are for your contributions to our campaign.

If you ever have a need to contact us at the American Cancer Society, please write to American Cancer Society, P.O. Box 350, Grayling, MI 49738.

Sincerely,
The Crawford County Unit of the American Cancer Society
Cindy Olson, President

Let's Talk About It

By Joe Murphy

The chemical contamination that is such a big problem today is mostly caused by chemicals that were once hailed as a boon for mankind. I remember for instance D.D.T. was going to eliminate fly problems. It was developed during World War Two and for a time it worked wonders at controlling flies. I remember a little found its way to Mackinac Island and spraying the horse barns once in the spring kept them fly free all summer. I recall Dad and I talking about it and wishing we could get some to spray our barn. But after it had been used a few years the flies became immune to its effect and seemed to thrive on it. Then its danger to mankind was discovered. Many tons had been manufactured and finding a way to get rid of it became a problem.

Look at asbestos and think of all the years it was used in schools, homes, etc. before its danger became known. I'm sure many of the things in common use today will someday be found to be harmful. It seems for a while chemicals were going to be the answer to a lot of problems. Then it was discovered the solution was worse than the problem. I remember reading about the chemical that was going to eliminate the shearing of sheep. You just gave them a shot and a few days later you could pull the wool out by hand. I don't think it was ever marketed so it may now be adding to the earth's problems. A few years ago people did not realize the harm they were doing by dumping any unwanted chemicals on the ground. Today most realize that such dumping is a real danger to our water supply. I implore every one to dispose of any chemicals you may wish to get rid of in a safe manner. What we really need is a collection point where a couple of times a year folks could bring in those cans and bottles of no one knows what, for disposal. Is there a service club out there listening?

Again my hopes of a good mushroom year have been in vain. This year was even worse. I found the total of two mushrooms. What happened, I sure can't figure it out. A few years ago I could pick all I wanted. The past few springs, though not perfect for them, should have produced enough for a meal or two. Could it be that acid rain we hear about has damaged them and ended their growth in this area? In an area where the woods was once full of food I sure would hate to try to live on what is available now. I guess a person would have to live off jack pine now.

In fact I would not want to have to depend on raising my own food on good farm land anymore. I guess a merciful God was looking out for us back in those hard time days of the thirties. Our gardens always produced a bountiful harvest back in those days. We always seemed to have all we could use and extra to share with those in need.

MCDONALD'S PITCHES IN—Philip Weiler, manager of the Grayling McDonald's, is shown presenting a check for $1,166.88 to Rev. Robert Gordon, president of the Ministerial Association, to be used to aid victims of last month's forest fire. The money was collected through McDonald's key chain sale that asked for a 50 cent or more donation. Weiler said one downstate customer, who had heard about the fire via a news broadcast, donated $100 to the promotion.

Wild Game Cookbook Planned By Local Club

Members of the Camp Grayling Conservation Club agreed last week to edit and print a wild game cookbook as a fund raiser for the organization.

The cookbook will consist of favorite recipes of members, wives, and friends. It will be assembled in the fall but no deadline for printing has yet been set. Those wishing to contribute may send recipes to Don Geiss, Rt. #1 Box 154, Frederic, MI 49733.

The club has obtained from the Department of Natural Resources, 1500 red pine seedlings which will be utilized for planting in various areas of the recent forest fire. It was agreed to temporarily "heel in" the seedlings until fall because summer is considered to be too late to plant.

The children's Bird House Contest has still not seen a winner among the over 100 entrants. Although there have been reports of birds sitting on eggs in the nests assembled and erected by the youngsters, no baby birds have been confirmed. The child with a nest holding the first babies will be awarded a bicycle.

Plans for renovating a cabin as a clubhouse were also discussed. The structure needs a new roof and flooring. Materials have been donated or sold at cost to the club to effect the repairs necessary.

The club members also agreed to apply for a club membership in the Grayling Chamber of Commerce and finalized the details on handling the Kids Fishing Contest during the Milltown Festival.

(Always simple but profound), Mr. Cerven stated shortly before his death, "Life is like a book...it has a beginning and it has an end."

DAD, I LOVE YOU

Dad, I love you, and do you know why? Because of that special gleam in your eye that tells me something important and true: That I'm an important part of you.

I love you because I know there's no other that you love more than the one I call mother. I love you because you're always there, extending a hand to show that you care.

I love you because you're honest and strong; You're courageous and steady when things go wrong. I love you because in your steps I can find. Because I know you're a man of God.

Dad, I love you, and do you know why? Because as a father you're quite a guy. And because on earth you're what a father should be. I know I'll be your through eternity.

(written by F. Craig Sudbury)

I Miss you dad,
Love your daughter,
Pam

NO FEES.

We're waiving all fees on our Home Equity Line of Credit and our Homeowner's Loan between now and June 30.

And unlike some banks, there are no annual fees with these home equity loans, either.

NO WAIT.

Once you apply, you'll get an answer on your loan in as few as 24 hours. All you need to do is provide us with the necessary information, including the existing balance on your mortgage, which you can get from your mortgage lender, and your home's assessed valuation.

HOME EQUITY
LOANS.

You can borrow anywhere from $5,000 to $100,000, depending on the equity in your home. And Old Kent gives you two choices:

Home Equity Line of Credit — offers the flexibility of writing a check whenever you need a loan.

Homeowner's Loan — offers the comfort of a fixed rate, fixed term loan. Both offer advantages over many credit cards or installment loans:

- Lower interest
- Lower monthly payments
- Tax deductible interest — consult your tax advisor.

Old Kent offers low interest rates, too. The current Annual Percentage Rate is 11 1/2% or 12%, depending on your line of credit. The APR may vary, but will not exceed 18%, and can go as low as 10%.

1-800-FON-KENT

You can apply for your home equity loan right over the phone by calling 1-800-FON-KENT. And to make it even easier, if you don't live near an Old Kent office, we'll close the loan at a place that's convenient for you.

So don't wait. Call Old Kent and say yes to this special no-fee, no-wait offer — today.

Milltown Festival Pet Show Scheduled

On Saturday, July 28, Michigan Avenue will be closed to traffic from Mac's Drug Store down to Chief Shoppemagon's Motor Lodge. Many events have been planned for the day, both before the Milltown Parade which begins at 3:00 p.m., and after the parade as well.

One of the events planned is an unusual pet show which will begin at 1 p.m. at the stage in front of Mac's Drug Store. This pet show is unusual because the pets and owners are to be dressed in costumes representing the country the pet's breed originated from. This will carry out the theme from this year's parade which is Sentimental Journey. If you have a French poodle, for instance, you and your pet could dress as Napoleon and Josephine or Brigitte Bardot and her agent! Categories within the Sentimental Journey theme will be, Funniest, Most Authentic, Pet and Owner who look most alike, and Most Original. All of the contestants of the pet show are invited to be the honorary guests of The Twin Maples 4-H Group and Linda Sprague's Obedience Class and can join them in the parade.

Smoke Detectors Provide Warning

Consumers can increase their chances of surviving a fire in their home by simply purchasing and installing smoke detectors, according to a representative of the insurance industry.

Last year in Michigan, there were 242 fire-related deaths. Most fire victims die from inhalation of smoke and toxic gases, rather than flames.

"Smoke detectors provide an early warning when a fire begins, which can allow residents to escape before the house is totally engulfed in flames," Terry Buckles, president of the Michigan Association of Insurance Companies (MAIC) said. "Statistics show that occupants of a home with a smoke alarm are twice as likely to survive a fire."

Aside from saving lives, smoke detectors also reduce fire injuries and help hold down property losses. However, to be effective, the units must be properly installed and maintained.

Smoke alarms should be tested at least once a month to insure that they are working properly. Batteries should be changed annually.

Smoke detectors should be installed on each level of the dwelling. The best locations are near the stairs, in hallways, near bedrooms, and in the living room. The units should be installed at least six inches from the point where the ceiling meets the wall.

The State Fire Marshal's Office recommends the use of smoke detectors rather than heat detectors. The latter respond to a certain temperature; however, smoke alarms detect the visible and invisible products of combustion.

Crawford County Milltown Avalanche Keepsake Edition

The Early Histories of Grayling, Lovells, Frederic, Deward, and Pere Cheney, "Enjoyed Today, Preserved for our Children"

The 4th Annual Milltown Keepsake Edition includes a schedule of events for both the Milltown Festival and the Crawford County Fair. This year we are celebrating Lovells' Heritage with articles and photographs about Lovells' early history, as well as stories on Pere Cheney, The Kerry & Hanson Flooring Mill, Hemming Peterson, and Ward Orchard.

5500 Copies will be distributed July 19th. If you would like to be a part of this special Milltown Keepsake Edition, call Kim McClain at the Avalanche, 348-6811, before June 28.

An elderly widow came into the office recently to sign up for direct deposit. Since her Social Security was only $375, she was asked about applying for Supplemental Security Income (SSI). She said she had applied about three years ago and was turned down because she had too many resources, specifically money in the bank. Come to find out, those extra resources had been spent a long time ago and she was now eligible for SSI. Unfortunately, she hadn't reapplied. That leads us to believe there are many people who were once turned down or thought themselves ineligible for SSI who have had a change in their circumstances that would make them eligible. Following are some common changes that could affect someone's eligibility for SSI: —a decrease in income or resources; —the death of a spouse; —a spouse enters a nursing home; —a disabled child reaches age 18; —moving to another state; —the medical condition of someone who was previously denied disability benefits worsens.

Additionally, the SSI income and resources limits have increased over the years. This means people who were found ineligible in the past because they had too much income or resources may now be eligible.

Too often, people who have these types of changes fail to reapply for SSI. They're losing out on important benefits because being eligible for SSI means more than simply getting monthly checks. In Michigan, they would also be eligible for Medicaid which helps pay health care expenses. And SSI recipients often qualify for food stamps and other social services.

If you or someone you know was previously denied SSI benefits, look at the situation again. If there's been some kind of change, check with Social Security to see if the change affects SSI eligibility. You could be doing yourself, or someone you know, a big favor.

For more information about SSI, call Social Security toll-free at 800-234-5772.

The Traverse City office is located at 1111 E. Front Street. Business hours are 9:00-4:30, Monday through Friday, except national holidays.

A representative is at the County Building in Grayling on the first and third Tuesday of each month, 10:30-2:00. There is no phone service at this location.

Verse or Worse

By Joe Murphy

THE NATIONAL GUARD IS READY

You can count the members of the National Guard Among the finest folks you'll ever find They stand ready to serve their state and nation To protect and serve mankind

They train hard to perfect the skills They would need in time of war To insure the hand of an aggressor Will not come knocking on your door

When the big fire struck this area The National Guard was there To fight the fire and help the homeless They are the kind of folks that care

They are our friends and neighbors Tax payers and home owners the same as you and I But if our country and freedom was threatened They are prepared to fight and die

They are well trained and ready These people of the modern National Guard And they maintain that point of readiness By working and training hard

They can not just train from nine to five For wars aren't fought that way And it's to win the battles of tomorrow That they are training for today

So show them the respect they deserve Thank them for the job they do For they not only serve flag and country They are also serving you

Capt. Ben G. Wright writes from England to Ernie Borchers: "Here's one for the books!" Enclosed with his letter was one from Ensign Wm. P. Kraus, of Grosses Isle, dated May 15, addressed to Alpena. It followed Capt. Wright to England, and now to Ernie Borchers in Grayling. The letter contained an inquiry about canoe trips. Of course Ernie answered it immediately, hoping it reaches Ensign Kraus while he is still in the mood for that river canoe trip. No doubt he has been wondering why Ben hadn't answered his letter.

Rains and warm weather have brought out the finest mushrooms of the year. Morrels of usual size are being picked in the old burn sections of Crawford County and also in the hilly hardwood portions of the county.

A meeting was held Friday evening, June 9th at the Grayling City Council Chambers by the Anti-Pollution Committee of the Michigan Council of Trout Unlimited. From this meeting the following recommendations and objectives were set forth: We accept the Michigan Water Resources Commission Trout Water Standards as the minimum standards acceptable for the AuSable River System. We support the stand of the Fish Division of the Michigan Department of Conservation, as set forth on pages 6-40 of a report published by the State of Michigan Water Resources Commission in 1966, entitled "Water Resource Conditions and Uses in the AuSable River Basin."

Basically these recommendations involve three steps: 1 An improved disposal system for Grayling which will bring about the water quality standards specified.

2 The removal of the dam near Old US27 bridge in Grayling.

3 Positive and immediate steps on the part of all governmental units involved to establish a Watershed Council, in order that long range planning may be undertaken.

Trout Unlimited will request all members who own AuSable River property to cooperate with the proposed "dye studies", or any other studies which will help determine the extent to which individual septic systems contribute to the pollution problem. Mr. and Mrs. Wilford Cameron of Frederic celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary at an open house given by their only son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cameron, and held in the ch. rch parlor of the S. The Bible Speaks

From Calvary Baptist Church

I John 2:12-17 Part # 7 Warning of Worldliness

The scope of God's warning against worldliness is very inclusive. It includes the entire family of God. "I write unto you, little children, because your sins are forgiven you for his name's sake." (I John 2:12 & 13c). The warning includes the fathers who represent wisdom and maturity. "I write unto you, fathers, because ye have known him that is from the beginning." (I John 13a & 14a). The warning includes the young men who are strong and fight battles. "I have written unto you, young men, because ye are strong, and the word of God abideth in you, and ye have overcome the wicked one." (I John 2:14b & 13b). It is the abiding word of God which enables us to defeat

Satan. (Eph. 6:10-17).

The statement of God's warning against worldliness is very inclusive. "Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world..." (I John 2:15a). The world spoken of here is that evil earthly system over which Satan is god. (John 12:31). It is not the world of humans God loved in John 3:16. Neither is it the created world God made in Acts 17:24. As we speak of the world of sports, or finance, or politics, so here the meaning is determined by the context.

The substance or reason for God's warning against worldliness is very inclusive. There is a heavenly reason. "If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him." (I John 2:15b). It is an either/or relationship. "No servant can serve two masters: for he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other.

Ye cannot serve God and mammon." (Luke 16:13). Worldly love is a two way street. "If ye were of the world, the world would love his own: but because ye are not of the world, but I have chosen you out of the world, therefore the world hateth you." (John 15:19).

There is a holy reason. "For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world." (I John 2:16). We notice these same sins in the fall of Adam and Eve. "And when the woman saw that the tree was good for food, (lust of the flesh), and that it was pleasant to the eyes, (lust of the eyes), and a tree to be desired to make one wise, (pride of life), she took of the fruit thereof, and did eat, and gave also unto her husband with her; and he did eat." (Gen. 3:6).

There is a hopeful reason. "And the world passeth away, and the lust thereof, but he that doeth the will of God abideth for ever." (I John 2:17).

All of us are tempted with the problem of worldliness. Lust and pride can destroy us. (Hear "The Bible Speaks" at 12:15 p.m. Tuesday on WQON FM).

CHURCH DIRECTORY

ALWAYS

By middle age, our memory bank becomes more selective, choosing to recall to our conscious mind only those experiences from our young childhood which were truly impressive.

As a four year old girl, there was one special highlight in my day. At exactly three-thirty each weekday afternoon, my father appeared at the end of our street, walking home from work. I could count on that - exactly three thirty.

I ran down the street to meet him as fast as I could. As always, he handed me his black lunch box to carry, a job in which I took great pleasure. I placed my other small hand in his large one, as we walked up the sidewalk to our house, while I chattered and he listened. I remember most vividly running along beside him as he slowly lopeled along. I was hardly able to keep up with his long legs, but he never let go of my hand as I pushed my short legs to their limit.

As my heavenly Father, God is always by our side, never letting go of our hand as we hurry through each busy day. As we remember and honor our fathers this week, let us also give thanks to our Father who is in heaven.

Keeping Healthy

Less Fat, More Fit
It's no news that a diet high in fat can contribute to cancer, but will a low-fat diet help prevent it? The answer is yes. A recent study at the University of Massachusetts Medical School found that cutting fat intake from 32% to 23% increased the body's cancer fighting NK cells' activity a whopping 50%. (NK cells are the body's first defense against developing tumors.) There's no medical reason why you shouldn't cut back on fat, according to Dr. James Hebert, who conducted the study; a 20% fat diet may be ideal.

In Memory of Chad

Sometimes in life, though it be rare
One comes along who has much to share.
He gives without thought, to friends and kin
A smile, a joke, a funny grin.
He takes life easy, and enjoys it much.
He lives day by day, without any fuss.
He is wide-eyed, full of life.
Often laughs - but not so loud.
He is one of whom his parents are proud.
Chad Jason Denton fits those words above, his life on earth was one of love..
His years were brief - but his memory forever.
Chad lived; he laughed; he cared,
and from these things death can't sever.
June 15, 1973 - June 4, 1989

To Two Very Special People; Nick & Chad

Friends have gone to another place who's left us with an empty space
They touched our lives, in that special way when they left us the other day
If they were here - what would they say
They'd want us to be happy, to let go of the pain to always remember, never forget.
This isn't a time for us to be sad;
But to remember the fun we had.
Remember this, they left together friends forever

In memory of Nick Jorae & Chad Denton

County Fair Adds Events To This Year's Schedule

This year's Crawford County Fair looks to be the county's biggest ever with the schedule growing more every week. The Fair will have everything this year, beauty, bravery, talent, and lots to do with a winning place to do it.

For the beauty in all you little girls, the Little Miss Contest will be held Wednesday night. Also on Wednesday, for those with a lot of talent, is the Crawford County Talent Show. The Senior Citizen Kitchen Band will perform at the intermission between the Little Miss Contest and the Talent Show.

For the brave at heart who like a little speed (and a lot of laughs) is the Donkey Races, to be held on Thursday night. The Fair Association is looking for a few good men (and women) who like the fast lane. People or businesses who would like to sponsor a donkey in the race are needed. Each sponsor must provide a rider for his donkey. If you are interested, call John Naour at Cornell Realty.

Friday evening will find you at the Female Jello Wrestling matches with the heartiest of female souls fighting it out in jello.

Saturday brings you the biggest, the baddest in truck competitions... Monster Trucks, and maybe a tank.

For you Little League fans, come down and check out Grayling's newest athletic fields as you watch the 1990 Little League exhibition games.

For the rest of the time during the four days of the fair, there will be a petting zoo, pony rides, animal exhibits, arts and crafts, commercial exhibits, Gospel concerts, a horse show, military displays, and much more.

There will be food, drink, and a good time for one and all at the 1990 Crawford County Fair.

Crawford County Fair Premium Books are under way with a new look, and like this year's fair, more to look at.

If you have driven by the fairgrounds lately, pardon the mess. It may not look too good now, but with a major amount of help from Welded Construction, there should be a noticeable change as the company is providing the free use of men and equipment to ready the fairgrounds for this year's fair. They have already cleared and graded the area where the new soccer fields and softball diamond will be. The entrance to the grounds will be widened and the parking area will be improved.

Materials have been gathered from various donors for the new pavilion, with construction to begin soon.

Camp AuSable Camps Begin

Camp AuSable has begun its summer schedule. On Sunday, June 3, 70 staff members arrived with Bill Edsell, the camp director, to make preparations for the campers who will come each week from now until August 12.

There will be a camp each week for children ages eight through 15; also there will be camps for the blind, handicapped, families, and senior citizens. Specialty camps are for aquatics, gymnastics, and horsemanship.

All campers will choose to be in two classes such as nature, sailing, canoeing, water skiing, swimming, archery, ceramics, crafts.

Food is served in the dining hall under the direction of Rex Townsend. He has five assistants. One of them bakes the bread.

Each evening all campers

Cook, is a junior majoring in Metallurgical and Materials Engineering. James W. Kiefer, is a junior majoring in Electrical Engineering.

FAIRGROUNDS - Future athletic fields are being leveled with a bulldozer supplied by Welded Construction.

PEP Plans Employers Rally

Members of the Promote Economic Progress (PEP) in Crawford County agreed at their meeting last week to hold a rally honoring industrial and state major employers on an evening during the second week of September.

According to the co-chairs of the Rally Committee, Kim Halstead and Ilene Wilson, the week selected would be after the peak tourist season. Awards will be handed out to the oldest industry now active in the county and one who demonstrates a great concern for the environment. Other honors are also expected to be handed out at the affair.

The report given about the rally also included plans for entertainment and a major speaker concerned with employment in the north country.

Elections of officers lead off the agenda for the organization as Don Geiss was elected president and Jack Alef vice president. Steve Wilson was named as the treasurer with Maxine Geiss as the organization's secretary.

Also discussed at the meeting was a plan to hold a continuing Keep Crawford County Clean Campaign. Since the encouragement of tourism is part of the objectives of the group, the members approved a plan which would include when finances are available shopping bag sized litter containers, and bumper stickers. A media drive and cooperative effort with county recycling officials is also included in the plan.
